HOWARTH TIMBER ARE PROUD TO BE WORKING WITH SOME OF THE LEADING FLOORING MANUFACTURERS':

AND SUPPORTING THE FOLLOWING ORGANISATIONS:

Howarth Timber and Building Supplies are committed to meeting the highest standards and all our flooring ranges meet EUTR requirements. Being a company that also has full chain of custody accreditation we are also able to offer, on request and subject to availability, a range of flooring materials with FSC or PEFC certification – please ask for further details.

Laminate flooring can transform domestic living areas, and can offer user-friendly durability option for commercial situations. By providing a viable environmentally friendly alternative replacement to natural products, the development of laminate flooring has provided the home owner with endless design possibilities over a broad range of wood or tile styles at the fraction of the cost.

Constructed around a core layer of high density fiberboard (HDF), finished with a top layer of highly decorative paper print and hard wearing melamine surface. Laminate flooring has continued to have increased demand in the UK market.

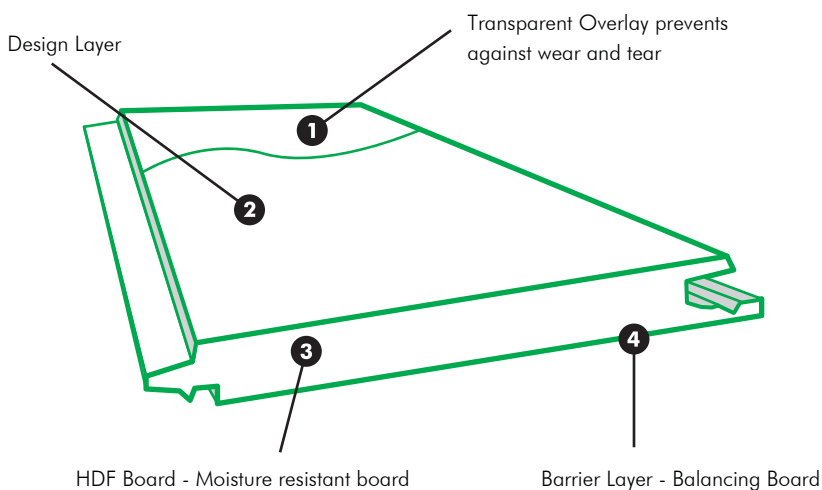

All our laminate flooring ranges are made to the highest standards and come with some of the longest manufacturer domestic and commercial warranties on the market today. So you can feel sure your floor will look good and last.

The Construction of an Laminate Floor

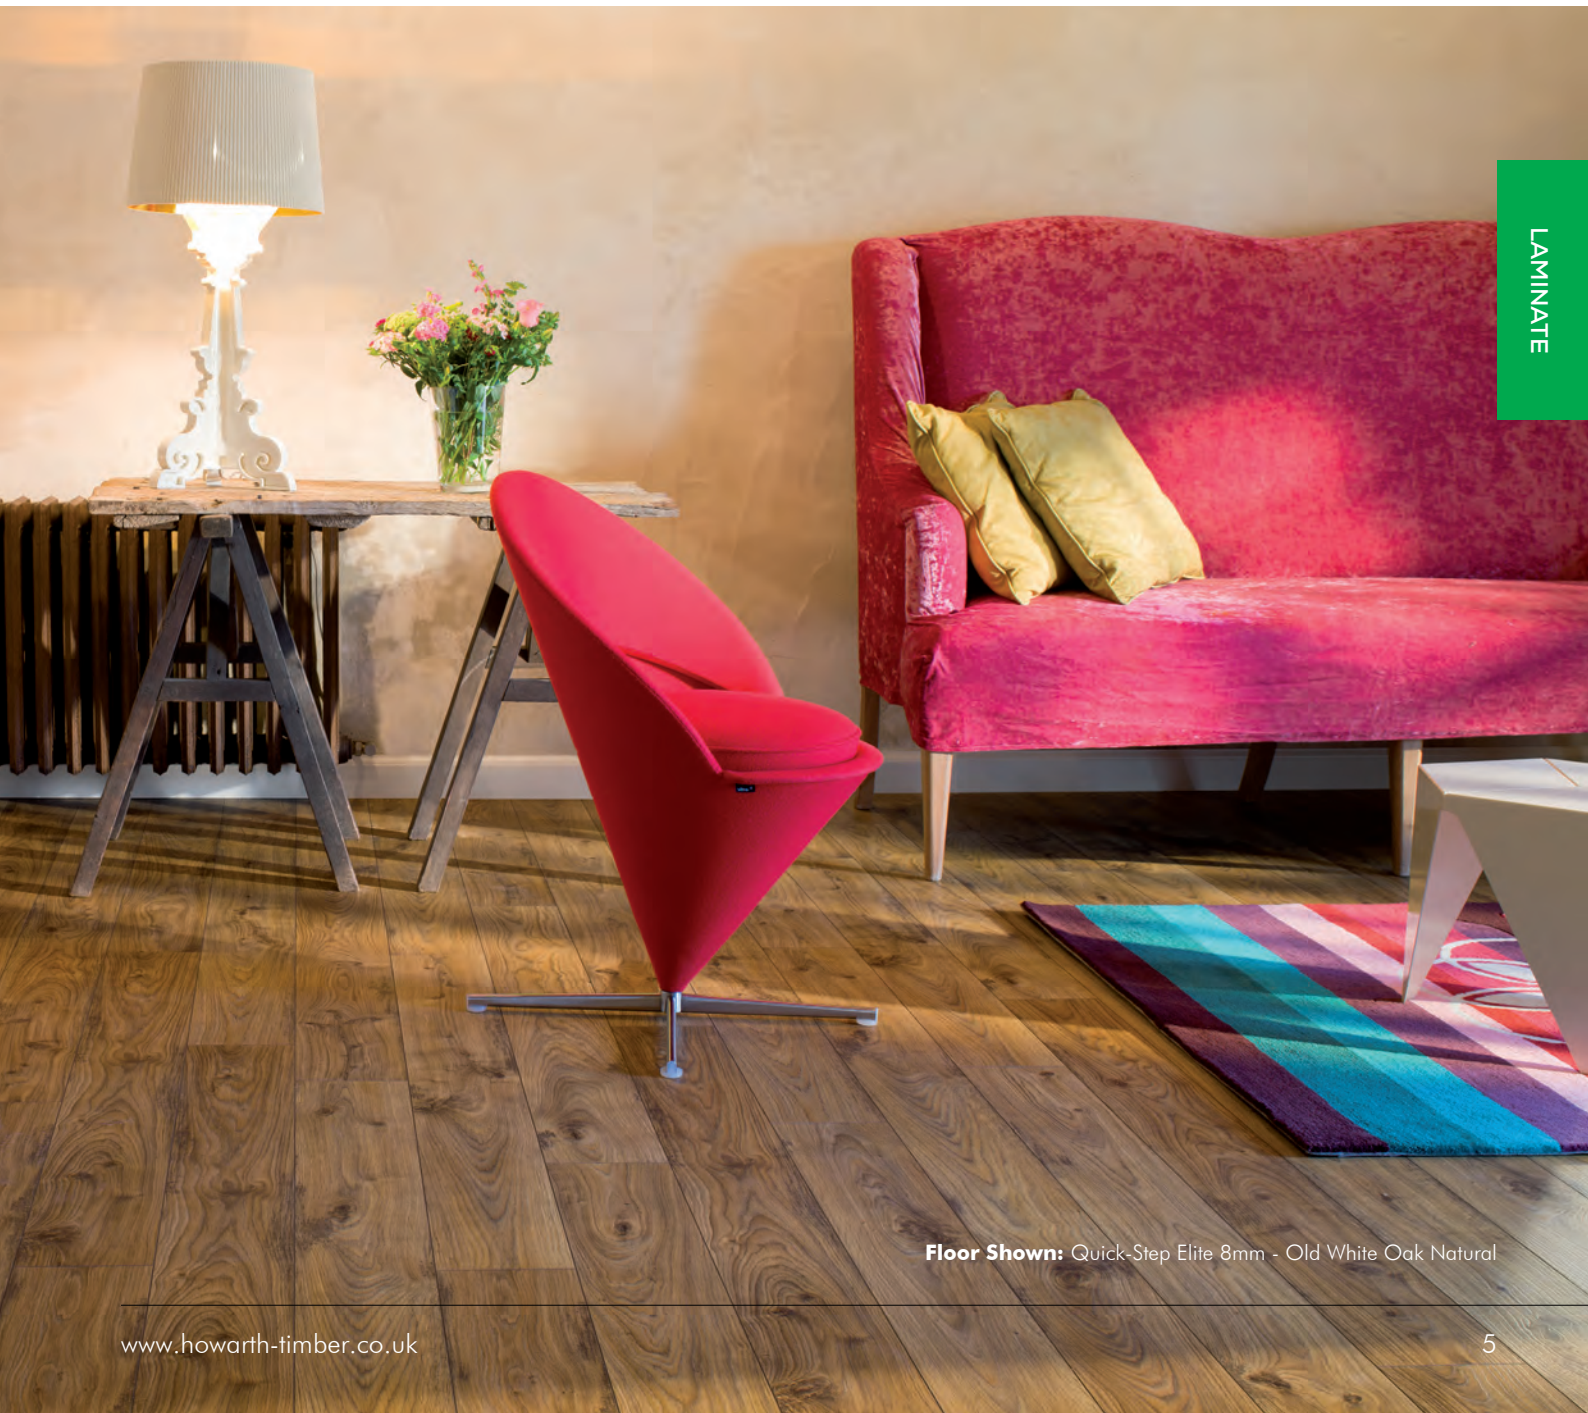

The construction of a laminated floor is based around a core layer of high density fibreboard (HDF), finished with a top layer of highly decorative paper print or a natural wood veneer finished with a hard wearing carborundum melamine surface.

What makes a good laminate floor is the quality of the core and the quality of the click system it fits together with. Cheaper core boards will quickly take up moisture causing boards to swell and joints to open up. Poor quality fitting at the joints and the boards open up allowing dirt to get in.

All our laminate flooring ranges are made to the highest standards with some of the longest manufacturer domestic and commercial warranties on the market today.

Meister Lindura Wood Flooring

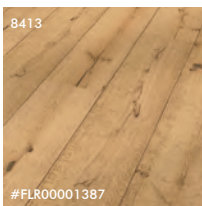

Meister Lindura stands for a distinctive rustic nature, as knots, cracks and wooden pores are emphasized particularly due to the unique production process. Naturally oiled and with a rich play on colours, each plank is a greeting from nature and is not just tough but also unique from every perspective thanks to the fine wood powder content. With a wide selection of Oak finishes available, this floor will create the perfect combination with any interior.

Fitting Instructions: We recommend having this range of flooring installed by a professional installer, however should you require fitting instructions, these are available from our website www.howarth-timber.co.uk

Now the most widely used and specified, Engineered wood floors are manufactured to stringent quality control methods from several layers of material. This helps to improve the board stability and creates the floors durability, whilst also ensuring for a quick and accurate installation.

Ideal for both home and commercial applications our engineered flooring incorporates either a proven traditional T&G or the latest Uniclic / Valinge easy fit

LOC system helping make installation a breeze and leaving you with a highly attractive, strong and secure floor. The strength and stability of an engineered floor also makes it an ideal choice where underfloor heating is required - Check with your UFH supplier before installing.

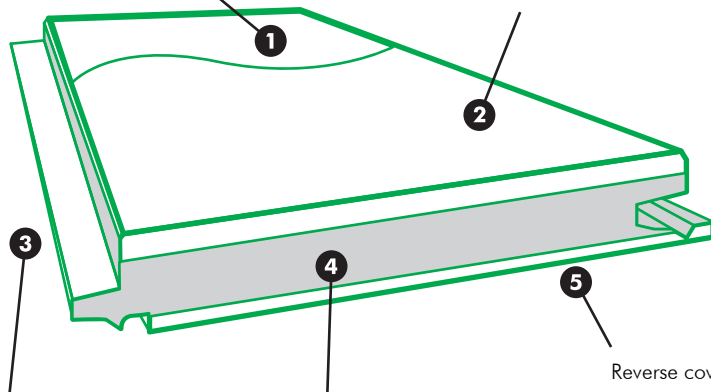

Available in a wide range of timber species, board sizes and colour finishes available to meet most needs. Engineered wood flooring is the ideal choice for any project.

The Construction of an Engineered Floor

The construction of Engineered Flooring is made with a real wood decorative/wear surface layer, providing all the visual qualities of wood, with the added benefit of a ready to finish or full finished surface for a instant and distinctive flooring solution. Manufactured in some of the world’s most up to date flooring factories using the latest technology quality is not compromised. Choose from a traditional fitting T&G joint or the non-glue click system. To be called a true Parkett floor the wear layer must be no less than 2.5mm and you will see that all products in our range achieve this. The type of core material chosen again ensures board stability and performance.

High quality lacquer sealer or oil finish

Solid lamella surface with select plank length / width staves.

Very stable tongue groove core strips made from ply, with pine that have dense annular rings or HDF.

Tongued and Groove at end normally made from five-ply plywood or HDF.

Reverse covered with veneer, sanded pine or hardwood balancer.

Available in a wide variety of timber species and produced in a selection of different lengths, widths and finishes. Solid Wood is commonly planked boards varying from 70-180mm in width, which gives you a greater opportunity for tailor your floor to suit your needs. Solid wood flooring creates a feeling of ambiance, style and warmth like no other, over time and through natural use actually becoming more and more unique.

Your solid wood floor will give warmth and style valued for generations. An extensive range of unfinished & fully finished products are available, from lacquered, brushed & oiled or natural/white oiled surfaces, to antiqued, aged and distressed surfaces with a variety of oil wax finishes.

Whatever your needs, Howarth Timber & Building Supplies can provide a wide selection of solid floors that will create a truly individual look in your home and be enjoyable and for many years to come.

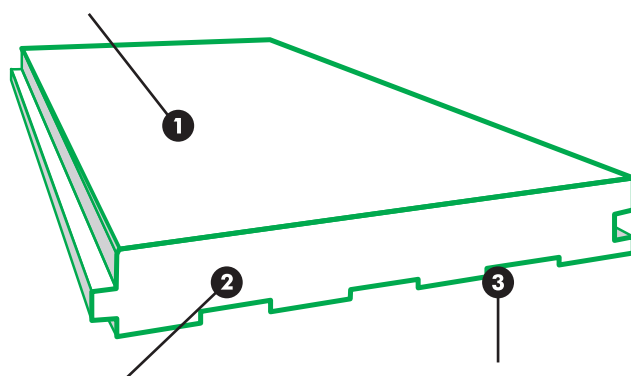

The Construction of a Solid Floor

All solid wood flooring products are selected from species which have a proven track record for durability, strength and performance. Only sourced from well managed plantations or forests we pride ourselves in ensuring our solid wooden floor range is only produced in factories where not only the quality is a major consideration but so is the environment.

Solid timber sections are machined and profiled using state of the art technology to provide our wooden flooring range with precision fitting joints. Available in a traditional tongue and grooved format or in some instances a click lock system the boards are then end matched to reduce wastage and improve joint performance.

Working with some of the world's leading finishing companies allows us to provide a wide range of natural and UV oil surface finishes. Alternatively choose a hard wearing lacquer surface with either a matt, satin sheen or high gloss finish.

Sub Floor Considerations

You can install many of our flooring products on a selection of different kinds of subfloors. They must be clean, level and dry. Nearly all subfloors and decorative flooring contain some residual moisture. Always measure the moisture content of your subfloor with a professional testing instrument and take this into consideration prior to purchasing your material.

When assessing your work area prior to installation, always measure using a straight edge to determine how even your subfloor is. Unevenness of +2mm over 2m is unacceptable and should be levelled using a levelling compound. Your local Howarth Timber brand will be able to advise on products to use.

Concrete Sub Floors

Concrete subfloors should always be firm and sound, if crumbly, cracked or soft remedial work is required prior to installing your chosen flooring product.

Timber Sub Floors

For Timber subfloors, always check the subfloor is securely fastened and all nail/screw fixings are tight to eliminate the possibility of unevenness or squeaking.

Always brush or vacuum your subfloor prior to installation and always work clean. If your subfloor is not to an acceptable standard before installation your floor may not fulfill its full performance.

Choosing Your Underlay

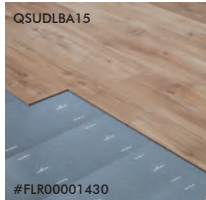

Laminate & Engineered flooring is usually floated over an underlay. We have a large range of underlay products than can deliver many different results. If you have specific needs please talk to an advisor in branch.

Most underlays that are designed for ground floor usage contain a moisture barrier that will only assist in protecting the floor from residual moisture when the concrete subfloor is 3% of less. An underlay or moisture barrier will NOT cover up an inherent moisture problem that should have been addressed prior to installation.

Underfloor Heating

The maximum allowed contact temperature is 27°C and by adding loose carpets/rugs this will insulate the floor. We can only recommend that embedded water based systems are used. Each product page will advise you on whether your chosen product is suitable for use with UFH.

The patented Quick-Step Incizo profile is extremely handy to give your floor and stairs that perfect finish. You can use one and the same profile for all finishing situations. Simply cut the basic Incizo profile to the shape required using the supplied slitter. No matter which Quick-Step floor you like, there's always an Incizo profile in a perfectly matching colour. With the supplied slitter you can easily turn the Incizo profile into the profile you need to give your floor or stairs that perfect finish. Spare pieces can be used for other purposes. The Quick-Step Incizo profile is designed to last: it's strong and extremely scratch-resistant. If using the Incizo as a Stair Nosing please note that an Aluminum Base Plate needs to be used in conjunction with this.
